

Coronation Celebration Plans Are Speeding Up

Legion Plays Host At Vimy Banquet

Addresses and Reminiscences Entertain Members and Friends at Annual Gathering.

Celebrating the 20th anniversary of the Battle of Vimy Ridge, Coleman branch of the Canadian Legion held their annual banquet in the Oddfellows' hall on Saturday evening, when almost a hundred members and ladies and friends enjoyed the fine dinner served by the Auxiliary of the branch. Walter S. Purvis, president, was chairman.

Speakers were Col. R. F. Barnes, Mayor Pattinson, Mr. G. Kellock, Mr. S. C. Short, vice-president, Mrs. J. Hirst and Mr. H. T. Halliwell. President Purvis referred to the swift progress of events during 1936-37, when in less than a year the Empire mourned the death of King George V., witnessed the abdication of Edward VIII. and on May 12 next will celebrate the birthday of King George VI. Referring to the work of the Legion, he emphasized the need for co-operation with all other organizations in town and the part it might take in fostering all worthwhile community activities.

Mayor Pattinson, replying to the toast of "The Visitors," proposed by H. T. Halliwell, stated he was pleased to note the remarks of the chairman regarding co-operation. He believed we lived in the finest town in Alberta, and by co-operation far greater improvements and more happiness for all could be achieved. He was right behind the Legion in its ideals and the care of the less fortunate who had suffered as a result of the war. Mr. George Kellock, whose name was coupled in the response to the toast of "The Visitors," reminisced in humorous vein on some of his experiences of 1914, when men daily came and asked for their time because they wanted to join the army. Quite a number of men who were good at their jobs left, and it was difficult to replace them at short notice, so that at times he wished the war hadn't started.

There was a certain gentleman who had been appointed colonel of a battalion being raised in the Crow's Nest Pass, who came to him and asked if he wouldn't like to join the army. "Well, make you a captain," the colonel stated as an inducement to join. "I don't know anything about soldiering," replied Mr. Kellock. "Neither do I," remarked the newly appointed colonel. However, the battalion eventually went to Calgary, and while there on a brief visit some time later he again met the colonel, who told him there had been a strike in the regiment. This was eventually settled by putting the strikers on bread.

MISS HILDA FAIRHURST, R.N.

A BOOST FOR JIM

Maybe it was just a turn of the dial or a twist of good fortune that Solon Low became provincial treasurer instead of Jim Cousins, of Coleman public schools staff. Jim debated with him at University, on finance or political economy, before Social Credit loomed so largely in provincial affairs, and lost the debate by just a point or two. At that, Jim would likely have made equally as good a cabinet minister as Mr. Low, as his winning personality and cheerful smile is sufficiently entrancing to win votes.

Death Takes Well-Known Coleman Lady

End Came Peacefully Late on Saturday and Funeral Held Wednesday.

The passing of Mrs. Frank Barrington on April 10, at 10.45 p.m., removes from the community one well known for her kindly disposition and friendly attitude to all. The death came peacefully after two weeks of suffering which was borne with patient fortitude. Her spiritual adviser, Rev. A. S. Partington, had just concluded a prayer when the end came.

Born August 31, 1868, at Hanley, Staffordshire, England, the daughter of Harriet Wallis and Henry Ridgeway, she came with her parents to Nova Scotia in 1876, the family settling in Springfield. In 1888 she was married to Henry Nash, and was widowed by an explosion in Springfield Collieries on February 21, 1891. John Nash, of Coleman, was the only son of their marriage.

On September 24, 1907, she was married to Mr. Frank Barrington, at Springfield, and in 1910 they moved to Coalhurst, residing there till 1915, when they moved to Coleman.

Left to mourn her death were her husband and sons John Nash and Oliver Barrington. Brothers living are John Ridgeway, of Rosbury, Mass.; Joseph and Edward, of Siping, Hill, N.S.; and Leonard of Lethbridge. Her sisters are Mrs. J. Houston, Lompe, California; Mrs. Charles Lees, of Delta, Alta., and Mrs. Norman Brown, of Springfield.

Relatives attending the funeral, besides the sorrowing immediate relatives, were Leonard Ridgeway, of Lethbridge; Mrs. Lees, of Delta, and Mrs. Anna Barlow, a cousin, of Drumheller.

DIED IN EAST COLEMAN

Joseph Pirasek, 56 years, a farmer who lived at Chapel Rock, died on Thursday evening, April 8, at the home of his stepson, Steve Hatalick, in East Coleman. He was a native of Czechoslovakia. When brought to Coleman he was quite ill and had been here only a comparatively short time when he passed away. The funeral was held on Sunday, service being at Holy Ghost church, Rev. J. T. Dunbar conducting, and burial in Coleman Catholic cemetery.

Building House in East Coleman

'Tis springtime in the Rockies, and others besides the birds are building their nests. Taking a walk to East Coleman the sound of hammers attracted the reporter's attention to a house in course of construction for Eddie Churila, which will measure 38 x 24 with a full basement. "Come over and see us when it's finished," was the remark of Eddie. Must be intending to have a house-warming and a bottle of rum.

Unselfish Work of Miss Hilda Fairhurst at Vauxhall and Milton H. Congdon of Blairmore Earn Well-Merited Tributes of Praise

GOOD WORK APPRECIATED

A former Coleman high school girl who has won praise for her services as a nurse is Miss Hilda Fairhurst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Fairhurst.

The Vauxhall correspondent of the Lethbridge Herald states: Miss Fairhurst, the nurse, is one of the necessities of the community owing to the distance from a doctor. Many minor ailments which are competently treated under a nurse's supervision, went without that extra care before the nurse came. Miss Fairhurst is well known in Lethbridge, where she was with the Nursing Mission for some years. Since her period in Vauxhall she has had many and varied experiences, from going on a sick call in the dead of night in a wagon, to travelling to Medicine Hat with a patient by air, which occurred last winter.

The people in the district are prepared to realize, and appreciate, more and more, the duties of this trained nurse and often they are heard to exclaim "how did we get along without her."

It is of local interest to note that Miss Fairhurst was born in Ashton-in-Makerfield, Lancashire, when six years of age, her parents left England for Fremantle, Australia, where they lived for two years, 1912-13. It was in 1914 they made the journey via the Pacific Ocean to Vancouver, and after a brief sojourn there, where relatives live, they settled in Alberta and after a few months residence in Taber, came to Coleman, where Mr. Fairhurst took employment with International Coal & Coke Co.

Hilda attended public and high schools here, as also did her younger sister Edna. The former took her training course at Galt hospital, Lethbridge, following which she was first appointed to the Lethbridge Nursing Mission, and after six years was appointed provincial government nurse at Vauxhall.

Her sister Edna is a teacher here at central school.

Journal readers, both local and those living further afield, will be pleased to learn of the appreciation expressed of the fine work of the subject of this brief biographical sketch.

Preparing For Next Hockey Season

McBurney and Barnes Look Over Players in Action in Calgary.

Indications are that Coleman Canadians' executive are looking to making another attempt to win the provincial final next season after seasons of spectacular efforts which have just fallen short of winning the championship.

Last Saturday H. C. McBurney went into Calgary, and on Sunday Col. R. F. Barnes joined him in the city. Enquiries by The Journal elicited the information that they were going to look over players during the Allan Cup series between North Battleford and Sudbury, but beyond that they were not giving further details.

In the meantime hockey supporters will await with interest the result of their visit to the city.

Footballers Elect Officers

A well attended meeting was held in the council chamber Sunday for the purpose of reorganizing the football club. Officers elected were J. McCoy, president; James Park, secretary. David Nevey was appointed trainer.

Plans were discussed for the coming season and Coleman's entry in the Crow League. The treasurer reported a favorable balance on hand to start the season. A campaign will be promoted to secure additional funds and a successful season is looked for.

Secretary Park sent a letter to Lethbridge Harlequins, formerly Supinas, asking for a game with that team to be played here May 1.

If it is advertised in The Journal it must be O.K.

Highly Honored

MILTON H. CONGDON

A FINE WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

One of the most comprehensive weekly newspapers coming to The Journal office is The Penitence Herald. Not only does it carry a complete coverage of district news, but its advertising columns indicate an up-to-date spirit by the stores. The town boasts a population of over 5,000 and more than 10,000 in the rural district. Among many new buildings erected in the past year is a Dominion government post-office and Customs building, and a fine Capitol theatre, as modern as those of the largest cities. Penitence is definitely on the upgrade, and a weekly newspaper is a most enterprising mirror of all its activities, of which this progressive city should feel proud.

TO THE VICTORIES

BE LONG THE SPOILS

This is true of the Social Credit government as of all others. Since the present government took office, the Blairmore Enterprise states 69 civil servants have been dismissed, 151 are reported to have resigned, and 910 new appointments, permanent and temporary, have been made, of which still a host of followers seeking appointments.

Mr. Hugh McCall, father of Mrs. Fred Cox, left Friday for his home in Parkburg, Saskatchewan. He is a remarkably active man for his advanced age, being in his 90th year. During the winter he was often seen around town.

Mayor Asks All Citizens to Co-Operate

Planning to Make May 12 Occasion of Biggest Celebration in Coleman's History.

Mayor Pattinson's enthusiasm in arousing interest of all local organizations and individual citizens in the coronation celebration should go far towards achieving success.

Particularly he stresses the importance of the day as an event to be long remembered by the young people. At the meeting of the general committee last Thursday evening he asked particularly that the school trustees take a leading part in the program arrangements, for the significance of the day would be most vividly impressed on the minds of the school children. He urged that the entire school teaching staff should undertake their share of responsibility in conjunction with the general committee.

Already several lodges, including the Polish Society and the First Catholic Slovak Union have helped to swell the list started last week by the Masonic Lodge, and it is anticipated that by the time this issue is published further response will have been made towards the objective of at least $500.

Vice-President G. Kellock states that if you make up your mind to do something worthwhile, it can be done. Coleman always has responded when occasion demanded, and it is hoped by the time next week's issue appears that marked progress will be recorded.

Maurice W. Cooke has undertaken the arrangements for the fireworks display, and is planning on having a royal salute of 21 guns fired to open the day's program. He is puzzling his mind just where it will be safe to fire the salute. A huge bonfire is also likely to be a feature, and Forest Ranger Boulton has been appointed to the committee to see that proper safeguards are maintained.

Individual donations towards the celebration fund will be acknowledged through The Journal, and may be left with H. T. Halliwell, secretary of the Coronation Celebration committee. Mayor Pattinson is chairman.

A fitting Coronation observance at Blairmore would be to restore the name of Victoria Street in place of its present misnomer.

The Community Newspaper

Few people appreciate in anything like full measure the tremendous influence for good exerted by the country weekly newspapers of the western provinces in the communities they serve and the quality of the service rendered by the proprietors and editors of these weekly symposiums of world, national and local current events.

Whether realized or not, however, the fact remains and can be irrefutably established that the well-conducted and discriminatingly edited country weekly—and that means the great majority of them—fulfills an extremely important function in the town and rural district in which it circulates. Nothing else that the subscriber purchases can be bought to yield such value for such a small monetary consideration.

And not only in quantity of material does the subscriber receive great value for an almost infinitesimal outlay but the quality of the merchandise offered to the purchaser of the paper is an unparalleled tribute to the discernment, ability and integrity of the proprietor who shapes its course and determines its policies.

An analysis of the contents of the average issue of the mill-run of country weeklies in the west demonstrates that considerable discernment is exercised in the selection of the news presented to their readers, that a high moral plane dictates the selection that is made and that service to the community of a high order is invariably maintained throughout their columns whether devoted to world events or to small local occurrences.

Partly because of this all-pervading tone permeating from the first paragraph to the last and partly because in many homes the local weekly is the sole printed purveyor of current topics no literature is more consistently and carefully read or with such close scrutiny, including the advertisements, than the country weekly newspaper.

Another factor which commends the country weekly to its readers and subscribers is the eminently sane outlook of its proprietor and editor in approaching the problems of the day—whether they be political, social, religious or economic. Their utterances invariably reflect a breadth of vision and spirit of tolerance so much needed in a world gone mad and at a time when too many turn aside to follow false gods or pursue spurious theories and "isms."

Then, too, much of the extraordinary influence exerted by the country weekly upon its readers should be attributed to the liberal space devoted to plans which have as their objective the phase of community betterment or improvement of the town and district. In this respect owners and editors give much of their time and energy to worthy causes for which there is no recompense other than the satisfaction which comes from having assisted in the promotion of a beneficial project.

Alongside the more imposing and voluminous metropolitan daily which is "sufficient unto the day" for its clientele, the country weekly may appear comparatively insignificant, but the letter is picked up, read and re-read and its entire contents of news, editorial content and advertising is digested and re-digested for a week until the succeeding issue steps into the breach. And it is largely because of this assiduous and intensive study and reflection which the weekly newspaper inspires that it wields such an important influence on its readers.

The country weekly also can be counted upon for loyalty to its readers, subscribers and advertisers, for justifiably pride in the town and district of which it serves and in no doing is worthy of support, in season and out of season, from the local merchants, the local board of trade, the local sports organizations, the local churches and the people of the district, for the local paper is a co-operative enterprise, even though privately owned.

Without the services of a sound, sane country newspaper, any community is bound to suffer and many worthy local ventures would languish and wilt of inanition and without the whole-hearted support of the many individuals which make up the community the local paper would lapse into a decline and eventually inherit a lamentable grave.

The fact that the great majority of the country weeklies have survived the gruelling test of a depression of unprecedented length and excessive severity—and the casualties have been surprisingly few—speaks volumes for the high regard in which they are held, perhaps often unconsciously, by the people they have served, and are serving so well and so tenaciously, despite great handicaps.

Public Too Curious

People Barred From Parts Of Windsor Great Park

The decision, reluctantly arrived at, to close to the public parts of Windsor Great Park near the Royal Lodge to secure privacy for the King and Queen is a lesson to people who have been indiscreet in their curiosity, comments a writer in the London Daily Sketch. The ruling may be relaxed later if conditions improve. The King and Queen like to regard Royal Lodge and the Great Park as a part of their private life.

Acid stomach, indigestion, gas or biliousness, and "cravings" cause the blood to be poisoned and will eventually destroy health and nerve force. This is what W. J. Fisher of 4 Blandford Ave., N. W., D. C., writes: "I suffered with my stomach, could eat very little and that what I did eat did me no good. I grew weaker daily and suffered from headaches. My weight went from 175 to 124 pounds. I took Dr. Hirsch's Golden Malt Digestive and was able to eat normally. I gained in weight and strength and could resume my work. Dr. Hirsch's Golden Malt Digestive made a well person of me." Not New To Eskimos

Natives Of Remote Island Have Always Had Social Security

Social security is centuries old to the primitive Eskimos of remote Munivak Island. They provide for their aged and needy through "gift festivals," a noted German scientist, Dr. Hans Himmler, disclosed after a five-months' study of the natives.

"All festivals are held mainly to exchange gifts, everyone making what he can to give away, even kayaks (skin boats) and 100-year long seal nets, thus showing his value to the community."

"The gifts are piled up and then distributed by the most respected man, to the old and poor first. This provides an economic minimum for all members of the community, since many suffer undeservedly, being bodily incapable or unfortunate."

Bird nests are important export articles of the Malayan islands. More than 3,500,000 nests of the edible swift have been imported to China in one year, for conversion into birds' nest soup.

In the Samoan Islands, whole villages often pack up and go on excursion visits to other islands as far as 60 miles away. The trips often last six months.

Preservation Of Liberty

American-British Friendship Best Guarantee Of World Peace

Under the heading "hang together or hang alone," an editorial in the New York Daily News endorsed that part of Lord Tweedsmuir's recent speech at the United States naval academy in which the governor-general of Canada said:

"The American and British navies are united in the same purpose—the preservation of liberty and peace." "The News foresees difficulties if an attempt were made to put a formal naval and military alliance between Britain and the United States through parliament or congress."

"We would hardly like to sew ourselves up in an agreement to help Britain fight Italy or Russia," it argued. "Britain wouldn't like to be tied up to us for some conceivable South American or Mexican war."

"But for the two of us to keep our informal friendship unflinchingly warm is only common sense . . . as long as we maintain the world's two most powerful navies, any nation will think a long time before picking a fight with either Britain or ourselves."

The editorial added that American-British friendship is not only national, but is also, as Lord Tweedsmuir says, the best guarantee of both nations' safety and the best insurance against another world war."

Mahatma Gandhi

Reported To Be Leading The Life Of A Typical Villager

Mahatma Gandhi is now leading the life of a typical villager. He has taken permanent residence in a hut on the outskirts of Sheogan village, seven miles from Wardha (Central Provinces). His wife and secretary live at Wardha, hence the latter goes daily to his master. The road to Sheogan lies partly through fields which become a morass during the monsoon, making communication difficult.

Nearly a hundred huts, some thatched, are scattered about the village. Gandhi's home, which is a tiled hut of mud, has an airy hall in the centre which serves as his study. A kitchen, storeroom and bath complete the home. At the side is a small stable for goats.

Gandhi has no program for the future these days aside from his daily schedule. The villagers attend his open-air prayers at dawn and dusk.

Received Lloyd's Gold Medal.

Admiral Evans Holds Rare Award For Gallantry At Sea

Admiral Sir E. R. G. R. Evans, who delivered his address at Lord Hewart's Aberdeen University the other day, is the only man to have received one of Lloyd's gold medals for special gallantry at sea. He won it on the occasion of the Hong Kong disaster, when he dived into a heavy sea and saved with a life-line from the sinking vessel. Not content with that, he returned to bring an unconscious coolie to the small motor-launch, which had approached as near as possible. After that he dived in a third time to free the propeller from a piece of wire with which it had become entangled, reports the News of the World. He earned his famous title, "Evans of the Broke," when in charge of one of two destroyers which defeated six German destroyers off Dover in 1917.

Should Be Discouraged

British Royalty Thinks Official Presents Impose Needless Burden

King George intimated to foreign governments through official channels that he did not wish gifts on his coronation.

This follows the precedent set by his father, George V, who said shortly before the last coronation that outlays for lavish official presents were needless burdens on others and should be discouraged. Since then British royalty declined all gifts except those from personal friends.

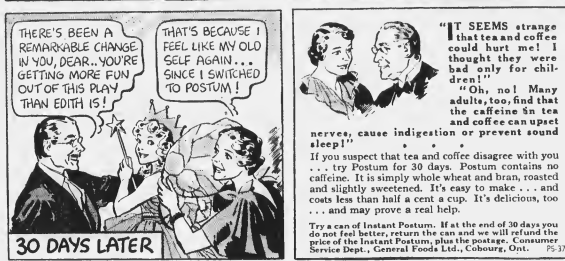

Despite this precedent the British royal family and government still send magnificent gifts to other foreign rulers on state occasions.

Use Of Serums

Taken From Persons Recovering From Infantile Paralysis Found Effective

The use of serum from persons recovering from infantile paralysis to treat other victims proved effective in checking an epidemic in Manitoba, Dr. F. W. Jackson, deputy minister of public health for Manitoba, told the conference of state and provincial health officers.

"Altogether 539 cases were reported, of which 33 died and of the remainder only 99 had paralysis after the disease subsided. Six or seven only will be totally disabled," he said.

The Final Step

You need 40 feet to stop your car at 20 miles an hour; 73 feet at 30 miles and 115 feet at 40 miles. At 50 miles you will need 166 feet—and if you keep on climbing in speed eventually you will need only "five or six feet" depending upon your height. Moreover, then, you will be stopped for good.

A Seedless Pear

Fruit On Ohio Farm Is Also Practically Coreless

A new seedling pear, seedless and practically coreless, has been found growing on a Columbiana County, Ohio, farm. It resembles the Bartlett and compares favorably with that standard variety, ripening about ten days earlier. The tree promises to be vigorous and productive, and, while it has not yet been widely tested, it seems to have promise, especially for canning. For several years the fruits have averaged about 90 per cent. seedless.

To Mend Broken China

Mixture Of Isinglass And Vinegar Makes Excellent Fixative

An excellent china fixative can be made with isinglass which must be broken up into small pieces and placed in a small cup or egg cup, with a few drops of vinegar. The mixture should be of a syrupy consistency. Use a small camel-hair brush and paint the mixture on the previously cleaned edges, then press them tightly together. If possible, a thin rubber band will often be useful in keeping an article in position until the mixture has hardened sufficiently to hold.

Interference With British Shipping in Spanish Waters

London. The cabinet, in a surprise Sunday session, grappled with the problem of interference with British shipping in Spanish waters, but such decision Downing street reached in connection with the blockade of Bilbao by insurgent General Francisco Franco remains a secret.

France's decision to blockade Bilbao, capital of the Basque country on the northern coast of Spain, presented a problem which the European non-intervention committee did not foresee and did not provide for in drawing up plans to patrol the coasts of Spain.

While the cabinet's decision was an official secret, much conjecture was raised in London.

One version had it the cabinet decided the fullest protection must be given to British shipping while, also, strict attention must be paid to international regulations concerning the entry of foreign warships into another nation's territorial waters.

The Daily Mail said it understood the cabinet decided in effect to recognize Franco's blockade, meaning the navy would not protect British shipping within the Spanish three-mile limit.

Hitherto Britain has not recognized the Spanish combatants as belligerents and therefore she could not recognize the blockade.

Britain's battle cruiser Hood, the world's largest warship, Sunday night was pounding up the Portuguese coast toward the Bay of Biscay where British merchantmen were awaiting naval escort through the Spanish insurgent blockade of the Basque coast.

Six British freighters in that trouble zone had been sent into French St. Jean de Luz by threats of insurgent warships to shell all vessels carrying supplies to the Basque capital of Bilbao province.

As this situation developed in the Bay of Biscay a cabinet council meeting was held at No. 10 Downing street.

All members were present except Viscount Swinton, secretary for air, but an official statement indicated it was not a formal cabinet session.

Sunday meetings of the cabinet are rare. The last was held last Dec. 12, when the crisis which led to Edward VIII's abdication was at its height.

The admiralty still was "not in a position to give the Hood's destination."

The Hood, 41,200 tons, completed in 1920, steamed westward out of Gibraltar late Saturday after her crew had been summoned aboard hastily from the streets and cafes of that port. She had arrived Friday from Palma, in the Balearics.

It was believed she would stand by, giving the merchantmen, understood to be carrying foodstuffs, ample protection on their voyages to the Basque coast.

Meanwhile the government would have time to consider the special situation which has arisen in the Bilbao area.

Bilbao now is beset by insurgent land forces while the bulk of General Franco's fleet sits off the coast practically isolating the Basque area.

Declaration Of Independence

German Liberty Party Demands New Election

Berlin. Freedom of thought, religion, trade and self-expression was demanded of Chancellor Hitler's Nazi government in a "declaration of independence" secretly circulated throughout the capital by the "German Liberty party."

The document demanded immediate dissolution of the Fuehrer's reichstag and election of "free representatives of a free people."

In urging immediate cessation of the reich's "Spanish adventure," the document listed Admiral Richard Foerster, former chief of the fleet, and General Werner von Fritsch, chief of the army staff, as among those opposed to a militaristic course.

The declaration listed the domestic aims of the "German Liberty party" as:

"1. A struggle against the exaggerated autarchic policy which is ruining German commerce, depriving the people of butter and raising the price of bread.

"2. A struggle against the great industrial consortiums which confiscate German industry and economy to their profit.

"3. Instance upon the vital role of small employers, artisans and merchants."

King's Birthday

Will Be Celebrated In Canada On June 8th

Ottawa. The birthday of George VI. will be celebrated in Canada, as in Britain, on June 9, the governor-general-in-council has decided. Word to that effect was communicated to the lieutenant-governors of the provinces.

While His Majesty was born Dec. 14, the example of his grandfather, Edward VII., is being followed by celebrating the monarch's birthday in the summer season, even where it occurs in winter, so that the public may better enjoy the holiday.

The birthdays of the last two monarchs, George V. and Edward VIII., were celebrated on their natal days, June 3 and June 23, respectively.

Loans In Housing Plan

Total Of $2,091,158 Already Made To Property Owners

Ottawa. In its first four months of operations, 5,441 loans aggregating $2,091,158 have been made to property owners under the home improvement plan, Hon. C. A. Dunning, minister of finance, announced. The plan went into operation the middle of November.

In the two weeks ended March 15, 697 loans totaling $284,262. The four months total was divided among western provinces as follows: Manitoba, $87,271; Saskatchewan, $44,764; Alberta, $196,542, and British Columbia, $246,593.

Airplane Passes Tests

San Pedro, Calif. — Douglas Aircraft officials said that a 32-passenger plane, capable of flying 3,300 miles at 180 m.p.h. an hour, has passed its tests, but declined comment on reports it will be sold to Soviet Russia.

PARIS EXPOSITION QUEEN

When the Paris exposition opens in May, Mile, Jacqueline Jacowlew, charming Russian brunette, will reign as Queen of the Show.

Satisfied With Bread Prices

British People Glad Farmer Getting More For Wheat

London. Rises in the price of bread and flour contingent upon the spectacular comeback of wheat in world markets is accepted philosophically in Britain.

The general opinion is that the price the farmer is getting for wheat is no higher relatively than the increase in his costs. It is also felt the advance will raise the purchasing power of farmers the world over, thus lending general stimulation to recovery.

"It is worthy of note," says the Morning Post, "that at no time during the slump has the price of bread fallen much below 14 cents per four pound loaf, compared with 11 cents in July, 1914, whereas the price of wheat during the whole of the five years 1931-35 was substantially below the pre-war level.

"Thus it is the manufacturer and distributor, not the farmer, who has been reaping the benefit of higher prices paid by the consumer."

Abandon Scrip Venture

Alberta Prosperity Certificates Will Be Redeemed

Edmonton. — Scrip venture of Alberta's Social Credit government has been abandoned and it is expected the $12,000 of outstanding prosperity certificates will be redeemed within the next two weeks.

Provincial Treasurer So'n Low announced that the certificate plan had been abandoned. No scrip had been issued, however, for several months and none had been in circulation since a large percentage was redeemed by the government last autumn.

The prosperity bonds were issued last August in $1 denominations by the government of Premier Abernethy with the hope of increasing purchasing power of the Alberta people. Certificate holders were to affix a special one-cent stamp each week.

Rehabilitation Of Youth Program Is Disclosed In House

Election For British Columbia

Date To Be Announced Shortly States Premier Pattullo

Victoria. — The Liberal government of Premier T. D. Pattullo will go to the British Columbia electorate this spring, the premier announced.

Stating the date would be fixed before April 22, Mr. Pattullo confirmed long-felt assurance that an early poll was in prospect. A June date is generally considered probable, with late May a possibility.

"The actual date of the polling has not been set," said the premier. "But I know the public is anticipating an announcement shortly, so I can tell you the date will be fixed before April 22."

British Columbia will enter a general election campaign with the prospect of having even a greater number of candidates than the 210 who contested for 47 seats at the last general election in November, 1933.

Parties which have announced they will contest all or a majority of constituencies are the Liberal government party, Conservatives, Social Constructive opposition, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation and the Social Credit League. In addition there are in prospect various Independents, Labor, Socialists, Communists and others.

Radio Licenses

Over A Million License Fees Collected Last Year

Ottawa. Some persons prosecuted for non-payment of radio license fees pay quietly and others go to their members of parliament, Transport Minister C. D. Howe told the House of Commons.

He was answering a question by Gordon Graydon (Cons., Peel), who thought more action should be given radio-owners before prosecuting.

Mr. Howe said all radio set owners received two written notices and a personal call before they were prosecuted. Besides there were notices broadcast over the air when license fees were due.

"We collected over 1,000,000 license fees last year," he said. "The net revenue after collection cost was $1,800,000. We prosecuted about 2,000 cases and of these about 1,500 paid quietly while the other 500 went to their member of parliament."

Warships At Halifax

Newly-Purchased Destroyer Enters Canadian Waters For First Time

Halifax. Three of Canada's four warships slipped into Halifax harbor. Excited by H.M.C.S. Skeena and Saguenay the newly-purchased destroyer St. Laurent entered Canadian waters for the first time.

A Royal Canadian Air Force plane dipped in salute above the little fleet of warships of vessels in port, boomed a welcome.

The St. Laurent and the Fraser now on her way to the Pacific coast, were purchased from the British government and have been engaging in naval maneuvers with the British West Indies fleet off Bermuda.

Ottawa. — A $1,600,000 program for rehabilitation of unemployed youth was disclosed in the House of Commons.

Announcement efforts to aid youth would be made through co-operation of the Dominion and provincial governments, were made by Hon. Norman Rogers, minister of labor.

As the house approved the appropriation, the minister said he could not outline in detail how the money would be used, but an effort would be made to train young men for various trades in which there was a prospect of their finding employment.

"I do not suggest this is any more than an approach to the larger problem," he said. "If there is no feature of the general unemployment problem which challenges attention more than that of unemployment among the youth."

So far as possible, in its training program the government would seek to use existing agencies, technical schools and other facilities instead of setting up new machinery.

It was not proposed to establish camps such as the C.C.C. camps in the United States except in so far as camps might be necessary in connection with forestry or mining work.

Some unemployed youth would be trained for the building trades, Mr. Rogers said. Although the building industry had suffered perhaps more from the depression than any other there was a danger of a real shortage of skilled workers in those trades in the future.

Answering a question, he said the government proposed to consult with the Dominion and provincial governments regarding the apprenticeship of young men to skilled trades.

In connection with the vote for training unemployed youth Denton Massey (Cons., Toronto-Greenwood) launched an attack on the youth committee of the national employment commission. He said it could not deal fairly and fully with the problem while the chairman was a "defeated candidate who has recurring political ambitions."

(He referred to Allan Chambers, Liberal candidate in Nanaimo, B.C., at the last general election.)

Conservative Leader R. B. Bennett said he understood Chambers was about to return to British Columbia to be a candidate in the provincial election. In his judgment, it was an intolerable situation.

Mr. Rogers said he was unaware of this.

Royal Commissions

Sum Of $150,000 Has Been Set Aside For Expenses

Ottawa. The cost of royal commissions comes high and in the supplementary estimates the sum of $150,000 is set aside for expenses of the inquiry into financial powers and responsibilities of the Dominion and provincial governments.

Appropriation for the grain inquiry now being conducted by Mr. Justice W. F. A. Turgeon amounts to $111,700, while additional money needed for the textile probe, also presided over by Mr. Justice Turgeon, amounts to $27,000.

Premier Blum Says No French Intervention In Spanish Civil War

Paris. — Premier Blum reminded Italy that France asks "insistently" the withdrawal of foreign volunteers in Spain and maintained that his government's attitude of neutrality "gives the lie" to Italian charges of French intervention in the civil war.

As the breach between the nations apparently extended to sports with cancellation of an Italy-French football game here, the premier's office issued the statement. "It is only too easy to guess what the reasons are for these accusations and what their goal is. Their untrue character readily appears."

French officials earlier had held Italian press charges. French army officers were aiding Spanish government troops were a "counter-measure" to offset the presence of Italians in Spain.

The foreign office announced it had no part in cancellation of the Italy-French football game to have been held here, but an apparent Italian fear of anti-Fascist demonstrations was advanced as a reason.

Members of the French Football Federation said Signor Barrasi, secretary-general of the Italian federation, "told members of the French federation that information reached Rome that certain political elements were planning to demonstrate when the Italian team came to Paris."

Rome. — The authoritative Giornale D'Italia opened a new attack on Soviet Russia and France, charging Russia aid shipping war materials to Spain and sending submarines and cruisers to Spanish waters.

The newspaper's editor, Virginio Gayda, who repeatedly has charged violation of the "hands off Spain" agreement by both Soviet Russia and France, declared a Soviet general army staff had been organized at Toulouse, France, to superintend arms shipments to Spain.

Premier Mussolini meanwhile was due to get first-hand information on the Spanish situation from Roberto Cantalupo, Rome's ambassador to the Spanish insurgent regime, who arrived in Rome from Spain.

Francisco Franco, seated, chief of the Spanish Fascist forces, and his brother, Nicolás Franco, who serves as general secretary for the Fascists at their headquarters at Salamanca.

Airways Development

Construction Throughout Canada To Be Rushed This Year

Ottawa. — Construction of airways, airports and radio stations throughout Canada is scheduled for continuation on a big scale this year.

In the supplementary estimates for the current fiscal year tabled by Finance Minister Dunning in the House of Commons, $915,000 is appropriated for that purpose.

The chain of emergency landing fields across the Dominion is almost completed, with fully equipped stations at the principal points on the route. The money will be devoted to speeding up construction operations in view of the projected initiation on the trans-Atlantic air service this year.

In addition to the above sum, the civil aviation branch is down for another vote of $500,000. This is to be applied in the form of contributions to assist municipalities on the trans-Canada airway to improve existing airports, or provide new ones. For maintenance and construction of radio direction finding stations, radio beacons and other features, $75,000 is being appropriated additional to the two other items.

Estate Of Lady Houston

Proven To Be Much Smaller Than The Popular Belief

London. Lady Houston, eccentric millionaire and imperialist, left an estate valued at £1,528,083 ($7,640,415), it was shown when contents of her will were made public.

The estate was much smaller than had been popularly guessed. At the time of her death last Dec. 29 it was unofficially estimated she was worth $25,000,000.

The will was made March 20, 1930, leaving everything to Miss Hoare, aunt of Sir Samuel Hoare, first lord of the admiralty. However, Miss Hoare died March 3, 1936.

Consequently the estate will go to various relatives, including a sister of Lady Houston, Mrs. Florence Wrey.

The government benefited by death duties of $3,454,604, which have been paid.

Sir Robert Houston, wealthy ship-builder, died in 1926, leaving an estate of $5,000,000. Lady Houston's estate did not include certain assets in Jersey, Channel Islands, of which the value was not given in figures published.

Recover Bodies

Searching Party Reaches Crashed Plane In Arizona

Phoenix, Ariz. — Captain Horace Moore, of the Arizona highway patrol, reported a searching party had reached the crashed Douglas airliner in the mountain fastnesses 20 miles southeast of McNary and that bodies of the eight passengers were recovered.

Two bodies were thrown clear of the ship, Moore said he was advised. The other six bodies were in the plane pancaked into the mountain-side and burned.

Moore said his information came from A. P. Andrews, highway patrolman. He said Andrews told him the plane pancaked into the mountain-side and burned.

Hudson Bay Railway

Last Capital Expenditures Appear In Estimates This Year

Ottawa. — Last capital expenditures incidental to construction of the Hudson Bay railway appear in this year's estimates, Transport Minister Howe told the House of Commons.

He said an item of $71,500 chargeable to capital was for ballasting, ditching, land purchase and other objects. It was the last capital expenditure as after this year the railway would be considered completed and further expenditures charged to maintenance.

No Conference Planned

London. Prime Minister Baldwin told the House of Commons no international economic conference "at present envisaged." The prime minister added that "informal exchanges of views have taken place" regarding a world economic conference.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Premier Aberhart in the Prophetic Bible Institute broadcasts persists in setting up straw men, such as financiers, enemies of Social Credit, bondholders and so on, and making slandering attacks on them to justify his failure to implement his extravagant pre-election promises.

Things are not so pleasant now, he finds, as when two or three years ago he was holding mass meetings, telling people fairy stories of how Pat and Mike carried on a business transaction of buying and selling a barrel of beer with just ten cents; of how people would be able to borrow a thousand dollars without requiring coin of the realm; merely by the issuing of non-negotiable certificates. He loves to look back on those days. They are amusing to look back on. The writer has vivid memory of witnessing a comedy transaction at Pincher Creek in which the principals were Mr. Manning and Mr. Aberhart; the former as the banker, and the present premier as the customer, borrowing the mythical thousand dollars, putting the cheque book of non-negotiable certificates in his pocket, then turning in his expansive way to the audience, and remarking: "Now, you see how simple it all is, no money changes hands, yet I have credit for a thousand dollars."

That was the plan. Venturing to ask Mr. Aberhart at the close of the meeting what standard of value he intended to adopt to make good his non-negotiable certificates, he admitted the plan was still very hazy in his mind, but said he, "We will entrust experts to work out the details." Now, after nearly two years in office, he attempts to wash his hands of the responsibility by setting up a commission with power to travel in foreign lands if necessary to find out something about a plan which apparently does not exist in his or anyone's mind, except Major Douglas, and he will have nothing to do with the good ship Social Credit after his falling out with Mr. Aberhart. Maybe he has realized by this time that his theory has no practical value, and is glad to remain in England where he is submerged in the whirligig of more private affairs.

If Mr. Aberhart would come out with a frank statement on the true situation, and admit the truth about his failure, he would not be thought less of than by continuing to pull the wool over people's eyes. One sometimes wonders, is he so glibless in his belief of Social Credit as he tries to appear, or, realizing the futility of it, has not the courage to admit it, and intends to hang onto office until he is ousted or loses the confidence of his supporters to such an extent that they will sweep him and his party from office as forcibly as they were elected in August, 1935.

THERE is a simile of some years ago which, though not as far reaching in its influence, yet causes a smile of good-natured amusement. Around Medicine Hat there had been many dry years. A gent named Hatfield appeared from south of the international border and put up a proposition to produce rain at so much per inch. Older people well remember it, the younger ones will appreciate the humor. He set up a tank, performed some mystic rites with chemicals which were kept secret as to formula, but the weather man did not fall in with his ideas and therefore co-operation necessary to produce rain was lacking. People were so heart sick of dry weather year after year, that they were in the mood to try anything. Of course, it didn't work. Every time we review the attempts of Premier Aberhart to introduce Social Credit, we remember Hatfield, and relinquish the typewriter with a smile.

Last week we said goodbye to the last Prosperity certificate someone sluffed off on us in payment of an account. We didn't even consider it worth keeping as a souvenir. The only significance it had for us was a reminder of someone's crazy dream of Social Credit financing.

An Ode to Spring—Maybel

Friday last, April 9, was the first really Spring-like day experienced this year. Doors were flung open, windows cleaned, rubbish gathered up (at least in some places) the smell of burning garbage was in the air, and all Nature seemed to be on the move. Dick Shone was so anxious to have a game of tennis that he was busy at work cleaning up the courts, and trying to lure Bill Balloch into a game. Wonderful life-giving Spring. No wonder poets rave, sweat and burn the midnight oil when it arrives, and fond mothers administer copious doses of molasses and treacle. Even that may have gone out of fashion in this modern age.

A DOG'S LIFE

A dog is a friendly cuss, no matter if he has a pedigree or is "just dog." It seems our family has always had come in after a rainstorm. One such dog was a family companion for twelve years or more, and though small, he had the heart of a lion and several times when given up for dead he would rally and by sheer determination show that he wasn't going to give up the ghost. When he eventually did pass he chose almost the stroke of midnight on Christmas eve a couple of years ago, which injected a touch of regret into the festivities.

His successor, a Boston terrier with the classic name of Oswald (not the rabbit) is not as good a scrapper, though he has a face which is more or less of a bluff. Little children give him a wide berth until they get to know him, because he looks as if he would chew them up. The truth is his teeth are so far back he couldn't catch a gopher by the neck. Lately he has acquired a habit of going out at nights, not merely to find the latest news on nearby telephone poles and fire hydrants, but to take a ramble around the neighborhood seeking romance. The annoying part is that he doesn't come home at a decent hour, when the family retires; but about 3 a.m. there is an annoying yapping on the veranda which he keeps up till someone aroused from sleep opens the door to the accompaniment of wrathful words of denunciation against Oswald.

With a somewhat shamefaced look and hanging head he scuttles into his box behind the kitchen stove. In the morning each member of the family gives him a reproachful look, but by that time he is so eager on anticipating his breakfast that all incidents of the night before are forgotten. Talk about a dog's life; part of their lives, at any rate, seems to be a continual round of pleasure.—Anon.

Councillors Wrestle With Water Problem

The council met in regular session on Tuesday evening with all present, Mayor Pattinson presiding.

The discussion on the defects in the water system and on suggested improvements to reduce the heavy pumping costs took considerable time, the mayor reporting he had been checking up the flow into the dam and the pumping records. A committee of Councillors Antrobus, Chapman and the mayor had interviewed the management of Coleman Light & Water Co., and submitted a report, which was fully discussed. It was decided that Constable Antle should keep a check and continue to make a daily record of pumping and the supply in the dam, also that the company be asked to place a meter on the pipe line at the pumps to gauge the amount of water passing through into the system. Thus, by checking the quantity in the dam every day, some enlightenment might be obtained as to where the wastage is going, as there has been far more water pumped than can normally be used by householders. The council determined to follow the matter up until pumping costs were reduced to a reasonable level. It may be necessary to compel householders to lower their service connections to the same level as the mains to avoid freezing during the winter.

Permission was granted to Nick Milo to erect a service station, to cost $500.00 on Lot 26, Block 9, Second Street, providing the by-laws are complied with and license paid. Plans were submitted by J.S. D'Appolonia.

H. Snowdon and Mr. Saad appeared before council to discuss the transfer of the Sand property back to the owner, but were advised to make an appointment for the next meeting.

On motion by Allan-Plante, it was decided that the town collect 1936 taxes, secure an order for 1937 taxes from Mr. Saad and $15 for transfer costs, and transfer the property.

An application for approval of application for old age pension for Nick Martello, tippie worker, 78 years, was read and council's approval given.

The Light & Water committee will look into the complaint of George Grosco, West Coleman, who stated he had gone to the expense of digging a ditch and laying pipe to connect with the water main, and was then advised he had dug in the wrong place.

Mike Biela's application to erect signs on his service station was granted, provided they are properly fixed to the building, Constable Antle to check same.

Proclamation of "Clean-Up" spring campaign was held over till the next meeting.

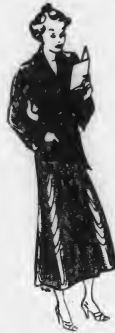

An indigent applicant, a widow, asked that she be not charged for water service, that the town supply her with firewood and allow her a little more cash relief, as she was receiving only $7.00 monthly. Her application for free water will be submitted to the company, and wood has been supplied, the mayor reported.

The provincial department of health requested that East Coleman residents be allowed to use the town's nuisance ground until their official visited Coleman and selected a plot for them. Permission was granted until August 1. Various letters were read from the relief department, one stating that prices of goods supplied to relief recipients be checked, as there had been considerable variations.

Cr. Antrobus moved that the provincial dairy inspector be

Silent Barriers—Canadian Epic

Depicting one of the most important chapters in Canada's romantic early history, Silent Barriers, film epic of the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway through the Rocky Mountains, had its world premiere under the patronage of Her Majesty the Queen Mother and Mrs.

Stanley Baldwin in London, England, recently, and its Canadian premiere in Montreal. The picture, which will be shown in theatres across Canada in the near future, is based on Alan Sullivan's book, "The Great Divide," and recalls the tremendous struggle waged against Nature by the giants of pioneer railroading in Canada. The picture was made in the Canadian Rockies last summer.

asked to see that the provisions of the Dairy Act be fully carried out.

Clarence Petrie sent in an application to erect a summer cottage on the east side of the lake in which he would live throughout the year. Some objections were raised by the council as to permitting building on the lake front, and it was decided that the parks committee investigate before permission is granted.

William Russell of West Coleman advised council he would pay all taxes due on property of his mother, Mrs. J. F. McKay, and by arrangement with his mother, the property would later be taken over by him. The secretary was instructed to draw up an agreement whereby the arrears will be paid at stated times. Councillor Chapman reported on an interview with Russell and recommended the arrangement be agreed to.

The mayor, as chairman of the Coronation celebration committee, asked the council to make a donation of $100. During discussion, questions were asked how much the school board would appropriate for the purpose. The mayor thought that in view of the fact that the celebration was largely for the benefit of the children, they should contribute $150 towards the objective of $600, as the school district took in a much larger area and population than the incorporated town area. Council passed a grant of $100.

The cash statement of the secretary was read and approved. Auditor's statement was left on the table for the next meeting, it being too late to take it up at this meeting.

Railroader-Actor

Roy Emerson (above), English actor who played Moody, the railway contractor, in the Gaumont British epic of Canadian Pacific Railway construction through the Rockies, "Silent Barriers," found himself right at home in the part when he went to the C. P. R. mountain division on location. The division was by no means new to Emerson who with his brother Percy served the railway there in 1912. Roy, the actor, as a fireman on "pusher" engines, and Percy as a round-house hostler at Revelstoke where much of the film's local color was filmed. Roy Emerson was a popular figure during the filming of the Canadian railway epic among the railroaders, many of them former associates.

Here and There

Outstanding success has attended the publication of J. Murray Gibson's book, "Steel of Empire," in which is told the history of transportation in this country. The first edition of this comprehensive and finely illustrated work on Canada's history was sold early and another is now out in preparation for sale as Christmas gifts, for which it is anticipated there will be a heavy demand.

Effective January 1, 1937, contributory pensions for Canadian Pacific employees will replace the 33-year-old non-contributory system. Since the latter system's inception in 1903, the railway has paid out $18,201,640 in pensions. Under the new plan, officers and employees will contribute three per cent. of their wages or salaries. Pension rates will be unchanged and pensioning age will be the same as heretofore.

Twenty-three arrivals from British and continental ports and twenty-three departures by Canadian Pacific liners will constitute the passenger service from Saint John and Halifax during the coming winter season, it is announced by company headquarters. Season will commence November 28 and close in mid-April.

Alan M. Irwin, of Montreal, has been awarded one of the Pamphile Lemay prizes for his book, "and ships—sealing-wax," it was announced recently by Quebec Provincial Secretary, Paquette. The book, written during a cruise around the world in the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain, received the only English award in the Lemay prize list.

"and ships—sealing-wax," which is published in Canada and Great Britain by Macmillan's, deals with the lighter side of cruising, and is a valuable, if informal, aid to would-be travellers. Vandalism At Arena

Vandalism is again rampant around the arena. Caretaker Alex. Easton states he has barred all doors on several occasions only to find boys have smashed their way into the arena. The secretary of the curling club found the door of the curling rink swinging wide open with free access to the rocks.

A thorough check-up by the arena management should be undertaken and prosecution made of the guilty parties.

MISCELLANEOUS

Town Constable Antle was in Calgary this week as a witness in a divorce case being heard there between Coleman parties.

"Duke," the game wire-haired terrier formerly owned by O. E. S. Whiteside, and who gave it to Fred Cox when he left here for Sarnia, Ontario, will no longer chase after sticks, rubber balls and bones. Running across the road at the east end of town, a car caught him and killed him outright.

Among the list of floral tributes omitted in the report of the funeral of David Davies in the issue of April 1, were the following: Loving wife and girls; Mr. and Mrs. J. Hilling, of Calgary; Miss Blanche Hilling, of Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. E. Burrill and Miss Ethel Field, of Edmonton; and Mrs. Ruth Ferguson, of Edmonton.

Mrs. Robert Young, formerly of Coleman, now living at Sugden, Alberta, is still in hospital at St. Paul, Alta., suffering from paralysis, having been admitted on December 27. Mr. Young was manager up till about 1930 of the Men's Store, when it was owned by Mr. George Neil. A son, Tom, was killed in the McGillivray explosion in November 1926.

A meeting of Coleman Miners Association was held on Sunday at which routine matters were discussed. The request of the Coronation celebration committee for a donation towards the expenses was not granted, owing to a ruling made some months ago that no requests for donations of any kind would be entertained, as there had been so many it became a burden on the association.

SALVATION ARMY SELF DENIAL

The objective for Coleman this year is $210. The local officers appreciate the support given in the past and are confident this year will come up to the usual good standard.

Mother's Day services will be held on May 9, to which all are invited.

The 22nd anniversary of the local corps will be marked by services from May 16 to 23. Major Acton, divisional commander, and first officer in Coleman; Captain Halsey, of Calgary, and West Canadian Collieries Band will take part in special service in the community hall. Further details will be published.

A memorial service for Mrs. Edith Clapham, who died on March 29, was held in the Salvation Army hall by Lieut. Vitch on Sunday, April 4. Lieut. Frayn spoke touching words on the influence of Mrs. Clapham's life, and both officers sang "I've Found a Friend." At the funeral service held on March 31 in the hall many paid their respects to a life of service. Hymns sung were "Sweeping Through the Gates of the New Jerusalem" and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus." Mr. Dutton also sang a hymn and gave an address.

Legion Plays Host at Vimy Banquet

and water for three days, and no further strikes were reported. In due time the battalion went overseas, giving a good account of themselves, and many good fellows never came back.

Referring to the Legion's efforts to establish a club, he recalled the experience of the original club here. Not being operated satisfactorily, it had been closed down. However, he believed it would be a good thing to have a club, provided it was carried on in a creditable manner, and he had been approached on various occasions to assist. He assured the members he was prepared to do so, and also remarked that what is worth having is worth working for, for anything that came easily was usually of little value, such as Social Credit dividends.

Col. Barnes gave an interesting review of the events leading up to the Battle of Vimy, particularly on the preparations made by the Germans to anticipate the attack of the Canadian Corps. Misarrangement of their plans, and not having reserves at the right time enabled the Canadians to capture the Ridge and consolidate their position. The Germans profited by their failure later on when the French were subjected to heavy losses, the Germans realizing the errors they had made in not having their defensive plans in order when the Battle of Vimy was fought. The German general, Ludendorff, was so disappointed over the result of this battle that he removed Von Falkenhayn from his command.

S. C. Short, vice-president, gracefully proposed the toast to "The Ladies," who, through their Auxiliary had been of great help to the branch. Armies might fight, men might do wondrous things, but behind all of man's efforts was the influence of the ladies, from the cradle to the grave.

This was replied to by Mrs. J. Hirst, president of the Auxiliary, who assured the branch that they would continue their support and interest. The men might come to do the talking, while the women did the work, but they would stand by them in their efforts to provide a club.

Between addresses songs were sung by Miss Ismay Hadley, accompanied by Mr. Tom Beynon as pianist; Miss Mamie McEllan, accompanied by Miss Peggy Gillespie, and Mrs. W. Martland.

Miss Roberta Moore, the popular Highland dancer, favored the gathering, her father, Pipe Major James Moore, playing the bagpipes, receiving hearty applause. The latter also played selections later in the evening during the dance, following the banquet.

Tom Lawlor impersonated a French-Canadian political candidate of many years ago seeking the votes of the people, and Bill Lewis gave a comic and a sentimental song.

President Purvis expressed the thanks of the Legion to all who had taken part, and also to those who had made donations towards the banquet.

NOW you can afford those HOME IMPROVEMENTS

GOLEMAN WANTS BETTER HOMES

At last! we have turned the corner. Now you can go ahead and repair the ravages your home has suffered these past years . . . worn out roofs, antiquated plumbing, heating and lighting, dingy paint outside and inside, decorating, hardwood floors. Perhaps you have wanted a garage, a cement walk, a fence or an extra room in basement or attic. If so, the time is here when you can really have these home improvements.

PAY OUT OF INCOME

There is no need to draw on your savings. By the Home Improvement Plan the Government has made money available at the lowest possible rates . . . only 3 1/2% for a one year loan. That means you can pay out of income just as you would buy a car, a refrigerator or other merchandise on time. The difference is that the rate of interest you pay is much less for these home improvements and there is no "down payment." Provided you own your home and have a reputation for paying your bills promptly you can get a loan of $100, $200 or whatever you need for this purpose up to $5,000. No mortgage is put on your property . . . just your promise to pay within three years.

GET AN ESTIMATE

If you really want to keep up the value of your home and make it a more pleasant place to live in, call in your Builder, Carpenter, Plumber, Electrician, or other Tradesman and ask him for an estimate of the cost. He can arrange the loan for you, or you can do this through your Bank. And remember that the reason why these unusually low terms are offered to you is because the Government wants to get construction men back to work. So now is your chance, while prices are down.

Loans up to $2,000 can be obtained for any improvement that will become a fixed part of the property, such as:

Painting	Heating System	Electrical Work	Plastering
Decorating	Modern Plumbing	Roofing	Garage
New Floors	Additions	Alterations	Air-Conditioning

Was Made Welcome

Governor-General Has Warm Friends in United States

When John Buchan was here in 1934 speaking at the opening of the great new library of Columbia University, he was welcomed in his own person and for his varied contributions, in both the written and spoken word, and especially to the English-speaking youth of the world. He has returned in an official capacity with a title which it is difficult for others than Scots to frame or pronounce aright. . . .

The Scots have a word for the most cordial hospitalities that can be shown a guest. It is a welcome and the "ben"—that is, into the best room of the house. The President in bidding this distinguished visitor to come "ben the White House" has shown him the most cordial welcome that the people of the United States can offer a visitor engaged in what he has himself called the "noble merchandising of civilization."—New York Times.

Japan Buying Iron

Has Purchased Construction Machinery Used At Boulder Dam

Japan, urgently needing steel in her military and industrial expansion, is buying construction machinery used in building Boulder Dam. The Naikes Co., charter steamer, Los Angeles harbor, bound for Yokohama and the steamer City of Los Angeles started for the Osaka junk yards carrying 6,000 tons of scrap iron.

Harry C. Kirby of Sunbury, Ohio, has patented a pneumatic horse collar which is intended to eliminate sore shoulders. It is inflated through a regular automobile valve. If this invention works out we suppose that billing stations will have to provide stalls so that when a horse and wagon customer stops old Dobbin can have his peck of oats while he is being serviced with air and water.

London is preparing to install streamlined trains in its subway.

Crack Revolver Shot

Canadian Gives Demonstration For United States Army

Sergeant Robert "Bob" Pickrel, of the Canadian National Railways police at Winnipeg, world's champion revolver shot and holder of practically all Canadian revolver and pistol championships, gave the United States army a lesson in marksmanship at Fort Wadsworth.

Using Bud Donahue of the Pathe news rest as a target, Sergeant Pickrel outlined him and his camera with 15 shots while Donahue worked the camera so that theatre audiences all the world over will be able to know what it feels like to be shot at. His colleague, cameraman Larry O'Reilly, also of the Pathe news, worked a second camera to show that the human target practice was genuine.

The performance was witnessed by a squad of soldiers from the Eighteenth Battalion, United States Infantry under the command of Lieutenant McShee and when the various exhibitions were completed, Sergeant Pickrel was bestowed for advice and autographs.

In addition to outlining the figure of Cameraman Donahue, Sergeant Pickrel also made a number of shots at the regulation revolver targets that are used by the American army. Although an extremely strong and chilly wind was blowing directly off New York's outer harbor, on the shore of which the range is located, Sergeant Pickrel complained that the bull's-eye was really too big and so, from a distance of 40 yards, he made his own bull's-eye by placing five shots around his first shot. He was so accurate that the entire group of shots could be covered with a 50-cent piece.

The United States army is saying this target to use as an example of the degree of accuracy which can be attained by a revolver shot.

Marking Ransom Money

New Discovery That Will Make A Bank Note Shine Under Invisible Rays

A light that reveals fingerprints never before visible, and a method of marking ransom money so a suspected bill will shine like a glow-worm, was revealed.

Both came from the Bell Telephone laboratories and were by-products of scientific research on metals used in telephoning, under direction of Dr. Francis F. Lucas, one of the world's foremost metallurgists.

Dr. Lucas discovered the method, which mineralizes the prints and makes them permanent, in contrast to present silver nitrate and iodine fuming methods which are "fugitive," tending to fade. The prints mineralize in the fumes of Fleming's reagent, a chemical made of three acids, chromic, omic and glacial acetic, a preparation used by biologists as a fat fixative.

The mineralized prints show as dark lines. Having made them indestructible as metal, Dr. Lucas turned to another department of metallurgy, which uses ultra-violet, or black light, to reveal metallic crystals not otherwise visible.

The surfaces carrying the indestructible prints were soaked with dyes invisible under light, but which fluoresce, that is shine like glow worms, under the invisible rays.

This makes the mineralized prints stand out like iron bars in a lighted window.

Canned Potatoes

Under-sized potatoes, usually graded to uniform size, are being canned on the Virginia Eastern Shore.

When opened, they carry the flavor of fresh young new potatoes, are especially good creamed, in salad, or browned with roast beef. Hotels like them for banquets—every guest's potato is just like his neighbor's.

The humpbacked camel has a spinal column as straight as that of any other animal.

Had To Abandon Idea

Late King George Unable To Launch Fund For Servants

The story of how the finance crisis of 1931 forced King George V. to give up plans for launching a building society for the benefit of his servants, has been told by Sir Ralph Harwood, the late monarch's financial secretary.

Sir Ralph described the projected scheme as "the building society of borrower's dreams." It was going to charge the borrowers only two per cent. on their mortgages, and it would have been willing to advance the full 100 per cent. of the cost of mortgaged property.

The plan had been evolved by the King after a discussion on the civil list. The King had pointed out that the financial position was so satisfactory that he would like to do something for the permanent benefit of the servants.

"He did not want to give wage increases because the wages were good and increases might not always be put to useful purposes," Sir Ralph said. "He wanted to do something which would help and encourage them to be thrifty and be of permanent advantage to them—he warmly welcomed the building society scheme."

However, the King asked for a $50,000 cut in the civil list when the financial crisis came and so the scheme had to be dropped.

Difficulties To Overcome

Pioneer Film Producer Gives His Opinion About Television

Television, says Film Producer Jesse Lasky, may be just around the corner, but there's a long road to be travelled before anyone gets to it. The pioneer movie-maker listed three major difficulties.

1—The gregarious instinct that calls people to theatres.

2—The unsuitability of radio stars for filming.

3—The nerve-strain that would be necessitated by heavy concentration on a comparatively small screen.

"Understand, I'm convinced television is coming," the producer said, "but it won't come soon enough for any of us to worry about."

He said he believed the technical frailties that now beset television will be corrected.

"But I don't believe people will choose to stay home, by themselves, for a television broadcast, rather than go to a theatre to see a movie. To many, the sensation of being in a crowd, with lights and life around, is very important."

"As for talent, we're having trouble finding, in radio, people who are suitable for pictures. Radio and the movies are two totally different fields. Generally their stars are not interchangeable."

Lasky said television in its present form would be too much of a strain on the tired business man at

"After all, you can read or walk around or relax while merely listening. But it would require a genuine effort for a man to sit with his eyes glued on a screen hardly bigger than the average window."

Lasky said he believed television might first develop in the field of news-reporting.

"Assuming that the technical aspects can be straightened out, television would occupy an important function by transmitting pictures of news events directly from the scene. "But all that is still a long, long distance away."

Estimated By James Watt

Inventor Worked Out The Formula For Horse Power

In James Watt's scrapbook, which is now in the Blundell-Bell Library, appears under the date of February, 1782, his detailed computation of horse power, based upon the experiences of Wrigley, his millwright. At that time horses were employed to drive mill machinery, and Watt estimated that the average cart horse developed 22,000 foot pounds of work per minute. Anxious to give good value to the purchasers of his steam engine, Watt, in using the term "horse power," increased his estimate by 50 per cent. and thus it came about that the 33,000 foot pounds per minute formula was evolved.—Industrial Britain.

Waiter Was Insulted

An English lady, just off the boat, was taken by her hostess to the American luncheon. Being very much interested in the American way of living, the Englishwoman ordered a typical Yankee luncheon of fried chicken and a mint julep. Then, for desert, she settled on ice cream. "But none of your great gobs, waiter," she admonished. "The fellow stiffened with indignation. "Madam," he said, "the Park Lane is noted for its small portions."—New Yorker.

Trying New Method

California orchardists are trying out a new method of "dust-baiting" their orchards. When the thermometer drops to freezing they turn on giant electric fans with airplane propellers, which are mounted on 40-foot towers in the centre of their orchards. A push of a button turns on the fans, which blow the cold air away, mixing it with the warmer current from above.

Explanations And Comments

Destruction Befalls The Wicked Cities of Sodom and Gomorrah. Three weeks later we shall take up the life of Abraham. To-day we have a selection from Genesis which gives the account of Abraham's separation from his nephew Lot, owing to the fact that the land where they were was not fertile enough to support the great flocks and herds that each possessed. Lot chose the rich, well-watered plain where were the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah, whose citizens were noted for their wickedness. They were "wicked and sinners against Jehovah exceedingly," or, as Moffatt translates our first verse, "the men of Sodom were vicious, they sinned openly against the Eternal."

Lot was willing to overlook the vices of the people of Sodom for the sake of the material advantage he expected to reap, and he pitched his tent toward Sodom. But no one could live among the people of Sodom without suffering from their corruption. When he knew of the doom of Sodom he escaped to Zoar, another city of the plain farther away. Then Jehovah rained sulphur and fire from heaven on Sodom and Gomorrah, sweeping away these towns and all the cities and villages, with all the inhabitants of the towns and whatever grew on the ground (Moffatt's translation).

Shun Intoxicating Wine, Proverbs 23:31, 32.

So look not on the wine so red, when sparkling in the cup; for it glides down smoothly as the first.

But in the end it bites like any snake, it stings you like an adder.

(Moffatt's translation).

Keep away from temptation.

"Critical judgment, wine, among other indications, by the color of it; sometimes wine, they say, looks so well that it is easy to be deceived. 'Come and drink me' (Matthew Henry). 'Not only the sting of the serpent, but the subtlety of the wine is in the wine. The deception lies in the fact that the habit of drinking will become more and more a habit of drinking, it is enslaving you. Every glass of liquor increases the desire for another glass. Take heed of the bait, for fear of the hook.'"

Habit Soon Grows

Although People Start Amateur Photography In Small Way

What's a minibus? It's a bug which bites you and makes you one more member of a vast army of minicameras (miniature or candid camera to you) enthusiasts.

The menace of the minibus is its subtlety. Minicameras are so small and comfortable in the palm of your hand, so quick to catch a picture when the subject isn't looking—and some may be had for a trifling sum. And they're good, too. So, you say you'll buy an inexpensive one, just for the fun of it. Of course, "you'll never get serious about it."

But when the minibus bites, and the infection spreads through your bloodstream, you realize you should have one of the real, professional cameras, the kind that cost from $110 up. They have fast lenses, lightening shutters, and, besides, if you're going to make a hobby of photography you owe it to yourself to do it right.

So you buy the more costly camera. And now the minibus has you for fair. You learn that to take pictures properly the exposure must always be right. Hence you need an exposure meter. Since it will save you from wasting film you regard this as an economy. Then you "just have to have" a telephoto lens, because many of the best "shots" must be taken from a distance, like birds, animals and good-looking blondes. And now you are well infected—and ready to discover that you haven't put a nick in the available assortment of gadgets, what with extra fast lenses, special view-finders . . .

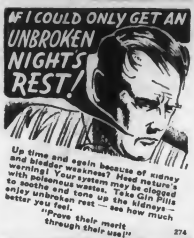

And the minibus? Not at all. You immediately get out pencil and paper and begin to figure how . . . That's the worst of the minibus!—New York Post.

Gardening

Grass seed may be compared to good tobacco. The best seed is a mixture or blend of different grasses. A proportion of those much more expensive and slower germinating, but permanent grasses will be mixed with a certain quantity of cheap, quick-growing seed. It is the former which form the fine-stemmed, deep green permanent turf which goes on improving with the years. A certain amount of the cheap, quick-growing amount is needed to shelter and nurse the others for the first summer, until the permanent grass is sufficient for a permanent lawn. Hence, a well balanced, high quality mixture is essential.

Grass makes its growth in cool weather; therefore, early sowing is advisable.

The ground should be allowed to settle after digging or plowing, and then levelled again. If there is time it is advisable to repeat this process several times. The top soil should be turned over, and the grass sown at a liberal rate, once across and once lengthwise. This double sowing insures an even distribution. For obvious reasons, it is not a day when there is no wind. In covering, the gardener is advised to rake one way and then rake the soil with a heavy roller or pounder.

The first actual gardening operations, if the ground is ready and free from surplus moisture, will be to plant those extra early flowers like ever, pease, cosmos, marigolds and other hardy annuals and almost any of the perennials. This is also the time to plant the grass seed. In the vegetable line, first sowings of lettuce, spinach, carrots, beets, and even potatoes, will be made.

At first, one is advised to make sowings of the seed and spread out the harvesting season. Then, if winter returns again after these first seedlings are made, the loss will be trivial. Seed after all, is the cheapest thing about gardening and one of the few factors over which the gardener has absolute control.

On these counts alone, it is highly important that one should get a reliable Canadian source should be used. Everything else is wasted; seed and fertilizer are lost if the foundation—seed—is not right.

A Western Story

Prize-Winning Book By Kathleen Redman Strunge Deals With Farm Life

The prize-winning book, with the West in her eyes, which under the title "A Modern Pioneer," recently won for its author, Kathleen Redman Strunge, the thousand dollars offered by George J. McLeod Limited of Toronto and the George Publishing Company of New York, with the cooperation of the Canadian Authors' Association, is scheduled to appear on the market this month.

Mrs. Strunge, is the wife of the internationally known grain expert, Major H. G. I. Strunge and is already well-known to the reading public of Canada for her stories and articles which have, from time to time, appeared in our magazines and newspapers. Her book should be looked forward to with special interest, since it describes in an intimate and lively fashion, every-day life on a typical prairie farm. It tells particularly the story of the farm women, in whose struggles and triumphs, hopes and disappointments, Mrs. Strunge herself shared for ten years. Her book is a fitting tribute to the splendid courage and endurance of the women of the farms, to whom it is dedicated.

One of the judges, Dr. Pelham Edgar, says of the book, that it is not only a valuable literature, and as a personal record, but it should prove of practical value for intending settlers, since the conditions depicted, though actually set between the years 1920 and 1930, are much the same to-day and cover both boom and depression periods in prairie life.

It is interesting to note that out of the 174 manuscripts received in the competition, on many subjects and varied localities, that a story of Western Canadian prairie life should have been chosen. It is safe to say that it was an indication of the interest taken in the West, in the people and their problems.

U.S. Air Base

To Set Aside 960 Acres Near Fairbanks, Alaska

President Roosevelt set aside 960 acres near Fairbanks as a prospective site for the United States army's proposed $10,000,000 Alaskan air base.

An exclusive order prohibiting settlers from entering the area said the land was being "reserved for use of the war department for military purposes." Army sources, however, described the site as a possible location for the new base.

CHAPTER III

Jack Trueman's dog was a black and tan collie with bob-tail. His was the general purpose breed of a drover's tyke; and he was all dog. Jack claimed to own the sharp-eyed, self-reliant fellow—but that was a matter of opinion, merely. In the dog's way of looking at things, Rover owned Jack Trueman; and Trueman owned him. When a smart, clever dog has something of his very own, you understand, say a smelly bone or an unruly boy—naturally he thinks highly of his own property. And he puts up with the smell of his own bone and the kicks of his own boy as one of the inconveniences of proprietorship, just the same as you and I put up with taxes.

Rover liked, at times, to have his boy throw sticks for him; and, of course, sticks can be thrown if they are not fetched. But he only fancied that sort of thing in moderation. When the sport ceased to amuse him, he would kick his leg against a post, and then run away on business of his own. This was clear evidence, Jack agreed, that Rover was the chief executive.

Jack Trueman had not bought the dog; nor had he been given the dog. One day, Rover had left the drover's team he was looking after, and had dropped in, casual-like, to meet the alley at the street, if it was stable in the rear of the Tavern Tyne. He fancied the look of the place and the smell of the slop bucket. Offhand, he decided he would like to own a boy who lived round an interesting place like that. So the two of them struck up a bargain on the spot—at least they thought they did. There was a mutual misunderstanding so complete that things worked out all right.

One June day, we were down to the foot of Berkeley Street to see a double hanging; and that surety was one glorious well-filled day. There was a high stone wall clear around the prison which stood close to the bay shore; and the Fair Grounds lay between the wall and the sea. Two men, Turney and Hamilton, were to be hanged on a Tuesday morning. To give the public a tidy view of the drops, both before and after taking, a double gallows had been built facing the Fair Grounds and high on top of the prison wall.

Before the early risers were abroad, hundreds of heavy farm carts and lumbering wains came creaking into town with their loads of merry, holiday-making country folk from far and near. Along the muddy roads came also bands of staid farm lads, faring stoutly on foot, with stick in hand and bag on back, stepping down 30 miles or so to see the doings. Two men were to be killed by the gallows in the morning as the example to the public and the soldiers throughout the district were excepted that the children might benefit by so valuable a lesson in morals and good living. That day the taverns of Toronto did a stirring business.

"Your son to the gallows," said young Jack to me. "Let us hooley down and see the necks stretched." The hangings had been set for ten o'clock in the morning; but an hour ahead of time there was a good-natured throng of thousands jostling one another before the grim prison walls. It was the sort of crowd one sees nowadays at a big country fair. Neighbors were greeting neighbors, and joshing over local affairs. Men carried their liquor well into the day, and of course, mothers had brought the young ones in their arms. What else could the poor dears do?

A stir among the men on the prison walls told us the death procession was coming. A hush of awe and expectancy fell upon the great throng. And this gaping crowd, stirred with thoughts of human slaughter, was standing in the most humane and tolerant colony Europe ever established beyond the seas! New England had been developed by the labor of convicts transported to be sold as serfs on an auction block. We are often told of the Mayflower landing the Pilgrim Fathers on the Plymouth Rock. Oh yes! But we hear little of the fact that for a century every other merchant ship touching a New England port landed a cargo of convicts on the Pilgrim Fathers. The outposts of those colonies were pushed westward by rough frontiersmen who murdered as they went on frolics of their own. The southern colonies were developed by slave

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning

The liver should pour out two pounds of fluid into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food does not digest. It just drops in the bowels, gas builds up, your stomachs grow congested. Bile is the life force of the body, and you feel sour, sick and the world looks ugly.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get it done. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get the bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Bile is the life force of the body, and you feel sour, sick and the world looks ugly. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Satisfactorily return nothing else, etc.

labor, and the full wages of that slavery have not yet been paid. One of the first laws passed in Upper Canada in 1793, provided for the abolition of slavery; and in dealing with another human, there has never been a time or place in Canada, save in her wretched prisons, that any man could with impunity make his will a law to itself.

You ask what brought thousands of people together to see such a terrible sight as a double hanging; and I answer you that fifty thousand of the likes of you would turn out any morning to view a well-bungled hanging to-day. A murderer is a celebrity; and people run open mouthed to see a celebrity, to hear him speak and see him decorated, or hanged—as the case may be. Every crowd hungers for excitement and is looking for a thrill. Every mob is by nature cruel and blood-thirsty. With all his clothing and culture, man remains a savage, a fact that becomes obvious when a few of them run together.

The breath going out of thousands of throats made, a low murmur as the murderer, William Turney, in his grave clothes and pinioned, came into public view and stoutly mounted the stairs of the scaffold platform. A priest walked beside him. Behind them strode a hangman, who was closely masked.

It was a matter of good form—and decently expected in those days—that a murderer make a speech and exhort the public. A lusty cheer went up as William Turney stepped smartly forward to make his speech from the gallows. His was an Irish brogue; and his voice was loud and clear.

"Ye like—a man!" shouted loud-voiced Michael, the smuggler.

Turney had been working the fall before as a journeyman tailor at Markham Village. He dropped into a local store one dark night to get a jug of whiskey to take to an apple-picking bee. As the clerk, McFly, was bending over the liquor barrel, Turney stole the man's skull in with a hammer; and then rifled the till. He turned off the spigot, blew out the candles, closed the wooden shutters, and quietly went home to bed. The dead body was found till the morning after. No one had seen Turney abroad the night before. He came under suspicion the next day because he rode to Toronto on a borrowed horse, and bought himself for cash money a pair of boots and a leather jacket. But that, you'll agree, was not hanging evidence.

Turney, however, needed money for his defence; and while lying in gaol at Toronto he got a letter smuggled out to his wife. The poor simple woman was no scholar; and she asked a neighbor to read it for her. The letter told her the sack of money was hidden under a loose board in the floor of her backhouse at Markham Village. He bade her get the money and give it to the lawyer man. So the damaging evidence leaked out. How much wiser to have let the solicitor's clerk visit the privy! On the scaffold Turney made a rousing speech. He shouted to us that he had been a British soldier in his day, and was not afraid of death. Turney thanked us all kindly for the compliment of coming to his hanging. It was sorry he was for killing the poor man, McPhillips, who had never hurt him and had treated him as a friend. The crime, he told us, had not been planned, but was done on the spur of the moment. The devil had tempted him; and he fell. He had run home that dark night in a terrible fear. The wind in the trees sounded in his ears like the

Japanese Decorations

Only One Treasure Displayed At A Time In Home

We are so familiar with Japanese objects d'art—porcelain, lacquer, kakemono, old armor, color prints, carved wood, ivory—that it might be imagined that the home of a wealthy Japanese family is a miniature museum of bric-a-brac, but this is far from being the case. Writes a correspondent in the Weekly Irish Times:

There will be treasures, but they will be displayed one at a time each in its special place, while the remainder will live quietly in the "godown" out of sight, till the time comes to make a change.

Take, for instance, the carved ivory for which Japan is famous. The lady of the house may wear small carved pins in her hair—one or two, never more—and her husband may have on his tobacco pouch a small carved ivory netsuke, but you will look in vain about the house for a display, in a glass-case, of carved ivory images. Beautiful lacquer is seen on the table which is brought into the room at meal-times and afterwards removed. You may observe lacquer soup bowls in use during that meal, but you will only see them at such times, for the Japanese host and hostess consider it inappropriate to use these things as ornaments after they have served their definite purpose. The same applies to the beautiful Japanese porcelain.

In the living-room on the dais of polished wood, called a tokonoma, a feature of every Japanese house, you will find one beautiful picture, or kakemono, with one perfectly arranged vase of flowers, or a dwarf plum tree in a porcelain pot. From time to time, in accordance with the seasons of the year, the pictures are changed, and at least once a year the old suit of armor, or a beautifully proportioned piece of bronze, will stand alone on the tokonoma.

The Japanese are artists in the use of space, and as a background think the almost empty room, with a color, with a touch of black here and there, is most appropriate. Mats, made to fit, cover the floor. The wood-work is unstained, showing its natural grain, and kept fresh and clean by the maid who washes it daily.

Where the Occidental would have a fireplace, a gas stove or an electric heater, the Japanese has the habachi, or moveable firebox of glowing coals.

Imagine such a room—the arresting beauty of the one flower vase, the solitary kakemono in its appointed niche. It holds an atmosphere of unhurried peace and of true art.

Duke Of Windsor's Arms

Recorded At The Herald's College In Virtue Of A Royal Warrant

Arms for the Duke of Windsor have been recorded at the Herald College in virtue of a Royal Warrant.

The Duke's Arms are those which he bore on King George's coat of arms, with three points argent, on the central point of which is an Imperial Crown proper. The Crest and Supporters have similar labels, and the Coronet is that of a Sovereign's son, which is different, in that it has no arch, from the Coronet which the Duke had as Prince of Wales.

This is the first time that Arms have been granted for a former sovereign, and in virtue of that the Imperial crown is used for the first time as a distinction on a label of difference.—London Times.

Seoutmaster In Queensland Going To Jamboree In Holland

An odd purchase will be made at Brisbane, when Seoutmaster L. Whitford of Bundaberg, Queensland, will take 12,000 pennies to the shipping office to buy his ticket for a 12,000-mile journey to Holland. He decided two years ago that he wanted to attend this year's World Scout Jamboree in Holland, and started to save his fare. He saved all the English coins that came his way. Now he has four 19-pound jam tins full of pennies, besides £15 in English silver.

The landlady brought in a platchet of extremely thin slices of bread and butter, which rather dismayed her hungry boarders.

"Did you cut these, Mrs. Brown?" "Yes—I cut them!" came the stern reply.

"Oh," went on the landlady. "All right—I'll shuffle and deal."

Fort William Man To Receive Insignia Of St. John Order

N. M. Patterson, shipowner of Fort William, Ont., who will be invested with the insignia of a Knight of Grace of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem at Buckingham palace May 25, expressed surprise at the honor to be conferred upon him when he arrived at Liverpool from Canada.

An official of the hospital brigade explained Patterson was being made an honorary member in recognition of his outstanding service on behalf of the order in Canada.

Demand For Stamps

Canada's First Public Stamp Auction Brings Many Buyers

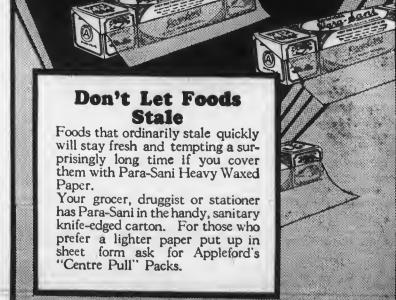

Canada's first public stamp auction was held in Toronto recently when philatelists of 16 to 20 years of age paid more than $500 for 200 lots of stamps.

When it was all over, the auctioneer, Robert Lindsay, 44-year-old war veteran, who turned a hobby into a business when the depression threw him out of work seven years ago, sat back and announced the auction "more successful than my wildest dream."

Canadian jubilee issues brought the best prices. One lot which in January could have been picked up for $6.50, brought $7.75.
